

Dreadlock Alien is one of the hardest working artists in the West Midlands.

He tours UK venues with his poetry and slam sets. He has written three plays and runs workshops in schools, community centres and prisons.

So when does he find time to file his tax returns?

Join us for a date with the man.

Find out how he turned his talent into his business.

Talk over your business or enterprise idea or just listen to the Alien....

Do I have what it takes?
Is this the right time?
Is this a good idea?
Do I have the skills to run a business?
What are the next steps?

This day will appeal especially to young people thinking about business.

Further business workshops available if you think you are ready.
